LOCATION BASED RISK SCORES FOR INSURED HAZARD EXPOSURES

AdvantageGo | score is the revolutionary cloud-based app from AdvantageGo which allows you to quickly and easily see layered peril scores for any physical asset across a single location or multiple addresses.

AdvantageGo | score helps to quickly access augmented risk scores from insured hazard exposures worldwide - from individual locations or multiple addresses - from leading peril data providers. Using our powerful cloud-based app, AdvantageGo | score computes vast amounts of geospatial digital data and provides both the native risk score from each provider and an easy-to-understand normalized risk score within seconds, presented on screen for any physical asset. Benefit from up-to-the-minute intelligence and a comprehensive view of the risk of any location. At-a-glance, overviews and detailed underlying scores are available to help all risk professionals make better-informed decisions.

Gain new perspectives and full control of insured hazard exposures at all times

We've taken away the hassle of having to integrate with every single peril provider. Different data providers use different categories and numeric/alphabetic scales to populate peril hazard values. With AdvantageGo | score, you gain a broader and deeper perspective on peril hazard value and the gravity of each risk.

Users have the flexibility to view either native or normalized scores from hazard data providers on a common scale. From drought to floods and everything in between, you can configure the Peril Score based on the business need, which is created and updated at the time of implementation.
